Hi all –

Following up on our discussion this afternoon, the survey results are in fact public – they were released to Politico on December 21 as part of a FOIA appeal/litigation (see email chain).

The release can be found at the highlighted link to foiaonline below. The redactions are personal privacy (i.e., people's names and phone numbers).

Please let me know you have questions.

Thanks ng

Wendy/ Kevin:

Has this been released to the public?

Nancy Grantham needs an answer quickly.

Beth- Here it is. The review and redactions were done by OGC at the AO's request and are privacy-related material. If the AO wants us to provide it to the requesters we can do that, but if the AO wants more time we need to redirect the requesters to the AO. Thanks! Kevin Mike, Henry, and Donna- Attached is an Excel spreadsheet that contains the survey results in redacted form. This is the version that you can post online and/or share. The contents of the spreadsheet are locked, although users can expand individual cells to read the lengthy responses. Please let me know if there are any questions about the document.

We have a pending FOIA appeal for this information and so request that you please give Wendy Blake, cc'd here, a head's up when you post it so she can inform the FOIA requestor.

Thanks, Kevin
